WINNING EXPANDS SCHOOL GROUPS TO NINE-WEEK SESSIONS

(Bend, Ore.) Winning Over Anger & Violence board members voted this month to expand the length of their high school counseling groups from eight to nine weeks. The additional week helps students practice alternatives to anger and violence, according to Janet McKee, the counselor heading up Winning's high school programs. To facilitate the longer sessions, the Winning board is augmenting its budget through local fund-raising campaigns, said Barbara Dunlap, chair of Winning.

WINNING Over Anger & Violence has provided counseling services for 19 years in Central Oregon. It is currently seeking community members to help with fundraising, networking and other jobs. For more information, call 541-382-1943 or visit www.winningover.org.
