

February 24, 2006

NEWS RELEASE

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT: Barbara Dunlap, president of the board, WINNING Over Anger and Violence, Ph: 541-330-8888, dunlap@bendcable.com.

DONATION EXPANDS ANGER MANAGEMENT FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS.

(Bend, Ore.) Winning Over Anger and Violence has received a generous donation from Julie Gray-Nash, mortgage broker with Bank of the Cascades.

The gift will enable Winning to provide anger and violence counseling to a group of students at Summit High School beginning this month. The nonprofit group recently concluded a counseling group at Mountain View High School and is also planning a group at Bend High School.

“This donation will help reach individuals who need to deal with anger issues, and it’s during the formative years,” Nash said.

Nash is currently a board member of the COCAAN Homeownership Advisory Board and Habitat for Humanity’s Capital Campaign. She also served as past president and member of the Board of Governors for The Community Theatre of the Cascades.

WINNING Over Anger and Violence is a nonprofit organization that provides professional counseling to men, women and adolescents to resolve interpersonal violence, anger and destructive behaviors. For more information, call 541-382-1943.

# #

Donation Expands Anger Management For Local Schools